NOTE:

During the hiatus in live racing events, broadcasters have been filling some of the gaps with broadcasts of simulated racing events and repeat broadcasts of race events which took place earlier this year or in previous years before this shutdown took effect.

I have decided to try to keep track of these broadcast plans and pass them on to you as well as I can.

Given the developing nature these revised programming plans, some broadcasters, such as TSN, are updating their broadcast plans on a last minute basis, day-by-day.

Hence I will try to keep track of these programming plans and pass them on to you. I expect that I will have to update my listings frequently to try to stay on top of this – and these listings may change as frequently as daily. Check back here frequently to get the latest information I can pass on to you.

Also, note that some of the simulated e-races will be available, either live or delayed, via direct streaming over the internet using services such as the sanctioning body's own website or internet sources such as YouTube.
